

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel for Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—Good-bye, sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelly feet, tired feet.

Good-bye corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots.

You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

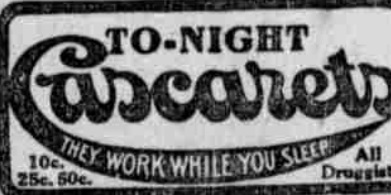

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ, you can get your money right back.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists' at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Obituary.

After about four months of illness, caused by senile degeneration, Marcus Swayze Waite of Calais, died Wednesday, May 3, at the home of his son, W. H. Waite, of Woodbury. Mr. Waite was born in West Windsor, Vt., May 2, 1827. He was the youngest of nine children and lived to be four years older than any of them. He married Mary Ann Parker, March 15, 1849. He then moved to Calais, where he has spent nearly all of the remainder of his life. A few days before he died, he stated that there was no man living on the east side of Calais who was here when he moved here sixty-two years ago. In his younger days he was popular as a singing school master and horse trainer, though his principal vocation was farming, at which he was noted as a steady worker.

During the sixty-two years of married life, practically all sickness has visited the family until March 19, 1910, when Mrs. Waite fell and broke her hip, which has crippled her for the remainder of her life. Mr. Waite leaves his wife, his only child, W. H. Waite, and two grandchildren to mourn his loss.

INCREASE POLICE OFFICERS' PAY.

Montpelier May Give Them $75 Per Month—Pond Cottagers Will Sell

The Montpelier city council met last evening and various matters were considered, the most important of which was the recommendation of Chief Durkee that the pay of police officers be increased to $75 a month and that no extra compensation be given them. Their pay is now $67.75 for a 30-day month and $69.50 for a 31-day month. The matter was referred to the police committee, with power to act on the recommendation of the committee. Charles P. Lowe appeared for cottage owners at Berlin pond and stated that they were willing to sell the Selinas property, which they acquired for $3,500, to the city. He thought the latter could keep all the shore line necessary and then sell the rest of the property for $3,000. No action was taken.

A committee was appointed to see about purchasing a bronze tablet, bearing the names of ex-Mayors J. S. Haley and F. R. Dwyer and Mayor Ballard, to be placed in the new city hall. The rest of the business was mostly routine, including the granting of many licenses and auditing of bills.

USE FIREPROOF MATERIALS.

Large Increase in Output of Fire-Resistant Building Products in 1909.

The enormous fire tax on the people of the United States imposed by flimsy and inflammable buildings, says Jefferson Middleton of the United States geological survey, in "Clay-Working Industries," an advance chapter of "Mineral Resources" for 1909, has aroused public sentiment on the subject of fireproof construction, and as a result the demand for fireproof structures is increasing, and the growing use of brick and other products of burned clay has been the natural consequence. The use of hollow building tile or blocks for outer walls seems to be on the increase. Some very attractive architectural effects have been produced with this tile in combination with brick and with stuccoed outer surfaces. Improvements in front brick, both in texture and in color, have been attained within the last few years and have enhanced the value of this product as a building material.

Not only was 1909 a year of prosperity in the clay-working industries but it was notable for the introduction of some important improvements. The most prominent of them is the brick-setting machine introduced in the west. The idea of handling brick by machinery originated in New England and a plant equipped several years ago with an elaborate system was the first to use the "unit stack." By this system the unit for handling was 1,500 brick. This plant was destroyed by fire and was never rebuilt. In 1909 a system of handling from 600 to 1,000 bricks on a somewhat different plan was put into successful operation in the west and is now being used in Chicago. By this system it is possible for the brick to be carried from the molding machine to the drier, from the drier to the kiln, and from the kiln to the cart without being touched by hand. Each of these machines is said to do the work of 40 men.

More and more attention is being given to the preparation of clay by weathering, mixing, grinding, screening, and tempering before it is passed through the molding machine. It has been found that the quality of the product is much improved by better preparation of the clay.

Concentration of the Industry.

The number of operating firms continues to decline. A few years ago there were scattered throughout the country many small plants, but the present tendency is to concentrate the industry and to build plants with large capacity. The average value of the output per firm reporting in 1909 was $14,859; in 1908 it was $32,818. The capacity of brick machinery has been greatly increased in recent years. A few years ago a machine that would make 5,000 or 6,000 brick an hour was considered a wonder. To-day machines are in operation that will turn out three times as many brick.

The great tendency in the clay-working industry is to reduce the cost of production by the use of more efficient machinery and by the elimination as far as possible, of hand labor.

Keep the Kidneys Well

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Barre People Know How to Save It.

Many Barre people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Barre citizen's recommendation.

L. W. Rowell, 37 Jefferson St., Barre, Vt., says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as an excellent remedy for backache and all disorders of the kidneys. For several years I was annoyed more or less by kidney complaint and I had pains in my loins and kidneys. I had heard a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and finally decided to give them a trial. I procured a supply. I used the contents of two boxes of this remedy and a decided change for the better was noticeable in my condition. I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until the pains were greatly lessened and finally disappeared entirely. I now have none of the old symptoms of my kidney complaint but nevertheless keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house at all times. This remedy cured me and I am glad to state that the cure has proven to be a permanent one."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

STILL ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT.

Camorrist Trial Ends in the Usual Excitement.

Viterbo, Italy, May 11.—Yesterday afternoon's sitting of the trial of the Camorrist was brought to a sudden close by a scene in which Enrico Alfano, (Ericoni) was the principal actor. He had gradually worked himself into a state of frenzy during the confrontation of Abbateggio by Giovanni Rapi, the alleged treasurer of the organization. Alfano's wrath burst forth when the informer began to ridicule Rapi's explanation of his whereabouts at different times. He suddenly leaped to his feet and pointing to Abbateggio, shrieked: "He is driving me mad. Take me to a lunatic asylum. Send me to hard labor, although I am innocent, but relieve me of the presence of that bound. I cannot stand him a moment longer."

Ericoni was trembling and fearing that he might collapse, the president adjourned court.

Sensational scenes are looked for to-day at the session, when Ericoni, who is the alleged head of the Camorra, will confront Abbateggio. It is expected that a special guard will be placed between Ericoni and his accuser.

Waste in the Household.

"In discussing the little phrase 'cost of high living' we tend to identify it with 'waste' as it exists in the American way of moderate means. Folly causes waste among the idle rich; ignorance causes it among the wretchedly poor. But in the home over which presides an apparently intelligent, earnest woman, why should there be waste? Because intelligence and earnestness go down before three factors of modern life—haste, false values and false pride. The little leaks which in the end represent the cost of high living can be traced to one of those three causes. Of late years the American woman has adopted the slogan of her husband and son, 'Time is money.' She rushes her house-keeping as her husband rushes his employees. The result is a peculiar form of high living in the home that did not exist when more time was given to its management," says Woman's Home Companion for May.

"Take the single item of marketing. Investigators have reported that only one third of the housekeepers in American cities and towns do their own marketing. The other two thirds trust it, save on special occasions, to servants, children and the telephone. In the average town where the telephone service is unlimited three fourths of the ordering at butcher shops and grocers can be traced to the wire. Dealers all approve the telephone method because it is a time-saver for them as well as the customer. Many of them maintain that it is fully as economical for the housewife, but actual investigation proves that this is not true. The housewife who selects her meats and green vegetables with personal care and discusses comparative prices of different brands in groceries saves from five to fifteen per cent. on her orders. These figures were furnished by representatives of three reliable firms in as many typical American cities: New York, Detroit and Baltimore, and the same figures have been found to hold good in smaller cities and towns. Yours may be the exception to the rule, but find out for yourself if this is so; don't take anybody's word for it."

FOR THE THIN AND SCRAWNY

Samose Will Make You Plump and Rosy, Says D. F. Davis.

If you are getting thin, you are sick, although you may not know it. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that needs looking after. If you have always been thin it doesn't follow that you are sick, but you may not be healthy. You cannot be strong if you are thin.

Try then to be healthy and plump; it is not difficult if you know how. Fatness, happiness and health, they all go together. How seldom you see a fat person who is not happy. On the other hand, thin people are unhappy and nervous. Use Samose and be well and fat and happy.

Weigh yourself before you begin using Samose. It will not cost you a cent unless it increases your weight and restores your health.

D. F. Davis sells every package on a genuine guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Madame Sherry" at the Opera House Saturday, May 13.

Every little movement has a meaning all its own, Every tho't and feeling by some posture can be shown, And every love tho't that comes a-stealing.

All its sweetness in some appealing Little gesture—its own. This is the chorus of that haunting melody which forms the musical theme of "Madame Sherry," the Bauerbach-Hoschna musical comedy which has scored such a tremendous success in Chicago and New York and which will be seen at the Barre opera house Saturday, May 13. If perchance you haven't learned the words, you surely know the tune. If you have not, there is something decidedly amiss with your musical education. Surely you cannot lay the blame at the door of the cafe orchestras, the parlor pianos or the street whistlers. "Every Little Movement" is a tuneful epidemic. Two weeks after the initial American production of "Madame Sherry" at the Colonial theatre, Chicago, last April, the score of the piece, and especially its theme music, were becoming popular in every part of the country from Boston to San Francisco. By the time, "Madame Sherry" reached New York last August, the melody had encircled the globe and the publishers of the score reported sales in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, South Africa and Australia. After its first New York performance, the tune was heard on the streets and in the subways.

VIRGINIA FALTZ

Acton Davis, critic of the New York Sun, has this to say regarding the musical number: "There isn't a number in Karl Hoschna's entire score that isn't a musical gem in its way, and the motif song, 'Every Little Movement,' is bound to be as great an epidemic as 'The Merry Widow' waltz. There is a lilt, and swing and abandon to it that makes an absolutely devastating melody. Even the colored Hebe, who presides over the ladies' dressing-room at the New Amsterdam, succumbed to it at the Wednesday matinee. When a string orchestra repeated the melody during the entire act she simply could not make her feet behave and went polkaing all by herself up and down the corridor. Yes, there's no doubt about it. We are in for another epidemic."

UNCOMPAHGRE REGION MAPPED.

Topographic Sheet Issued by the United States Geological Survey.

A good example of the science of topographic map making may be seen in the map of the Uncompahgre quadrangle, Colorado, recently engraved and just printed on the great lithographic press of the United States geological survey. The area covered by the map is one of the most rugged of the Rocky mountain region. It includes a stretch of the Black canyon of Gunnison river, portions of the Gunnison national forest, the Uncompahgre national forest, and the Cochetopa national forest. The northern portion of the quadrangle is traversed by the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, and the Lake City branch of the railroad crosses the area from north to south. Several hundred elevations are noted on the map, and the altitude of any point in the area can be determined at a glance, with approximate accuracy, by examination of the contour lines.

Wild and rugged as the Uncompahgre country is, the traveler or the camper, with one of these maps in hand, could locate himself at once in any part of the area. It is high country indeed, many of the plateaus and lakes being 9,000 or 10,000 feet above the sea. A number of peaks in the eastern portion of the quadrangle, to the south of the mining district, are termed "hills"—such as Milton hill, Iron hill, and Rudolph hill. Examination of the map shows them to be higher by several thousand feet than the most lofty mountain in the eastern half of the United States. Uncompahgre peak, with an altitude of 14,300 feet, is the highest point in the quadrangle, but dozens of other peaks show elevations of 12,000 or 13,000 feet.

Natural Gas Fires.

One of Stanley Waterloo's stories of prehistoric times contains a description of the region known among the cave men as the "fire country," where blue and red flames leaped from cracks in the ground. The young readers of the Story of A might find in "Mineral Resources of the United States for 1909," published by the United States geological survey, a parallel statement by United States Consul General Michael of Calcutta, descriptive of a real fire country, located about 20 miles from Chittagong, British India, where natural gas blazes from crevices in the ground. The gas has been burning so long that the oldest inhabitant can give no idea of when it was set on fire. The general belief among the natives is that the gas has been on fire for centuries. At any rate, it has been burning as far back as any records have been kept by white people. It is now suggested—and some steps have been taken to carry out the suggestion—that the fire be extinguished and the gas be brought under control and piped down to Chittagong for light and fuel and power. The citizens of Chittagong have concluded that it would be cheaper to utilize the gas than to introduce electricity.

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Flues, safely sealed throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

STOPPING A NOSEBLEED.

By This Method It Is Simply a Matter of Imagination.

In many experiments carried on during the last few years it has been ascertained that the mind controls to a wonderful extent the flow of blood to any particular part of the body. The following experiment has been tried as many as ten times by me and has not failed once.

When the nose starts to bleed, immediately persuade yourself to believe that you are running with all your might up the steepest flight of steps you can think of or up a high hill; that is, just think of doing either of these things and doing it fast. Think at the same time that you are carrying a heavy piece of baggage with both hands and add thoughts of any other bodily exertion. You will be surprised at the quickness with which your trouble ends.

The explanation is that when we really start to run more blood is given to the arteries supplying the muscles of the legs than they were receiving while at rest. This has been proved. As the same thoughts in the mind produce approximately the same bodily effects, if one merely thinks to run, but does not run, the blood will go to the legs anyhow and away from the head, as desired.

There are many common experiences of secretions started by thoughts. If one looks at a lemon and thinks of sucking it his mouth immediately waters, and I have no doubt that many people who read this will have their mouths watering from the simple reading—Lawrence Hodges in Chicago Record-Herald.

BUFFALO TONGUES.

The Blackfoot Indians Used to Turn Them Into Hairbrushes.

"Walrus whisker toothpicks and buffalo tongue hairbrushes!" the explorer cried.

And he displayed a packet of black toothpicks tied with a strip of red rawhide and a flat black hairbrush that seemed molded out of rubber.

"These two articles," said the explorer, "are of strictly native manufacture—native American manufacture. Take the toothpicks first. They are made by the Indians of Alaska. The Indians, whenever they kill a walrus, pluck from his face his long and stiff whiskers, cure them and ship them to the Chinese. At every fashionable Chinese dinner you will see the stately mandarins between each course picking their teeth with these walrus whisker toothpicks.

"It's the Blackfoot Indians who use buffalo tongue hairbrushes. A buffalo's tongue is rough. The spines on it make very good hairbrush bristles. And these bristles in a Blackfoot brush don't come out, for the Blackfoot simply skins his buffalo tongue, cuts it in hairbrush shape, cures it, and there you are.

Every Blackfoot in the past had his buffalo hairbrush. But those days are gone—gone with the buffalo herds—and where in the fifties you could buy a good buffalo tongue brush on the plains for a ladle of puppy dog stew I doubt if you could get one now for a keg of firewater."—Washington Post.

When Empress Eugenie Was Young.

I was so lost in admiration of this wonderful Empress Eugenie that in dancing in the royal quadrille with the Russian consul I forgot to make the usual steps. Everything was symmetrical, perfect in her, the slender, graceful figure with the beautifully modeled shoulders, which were enhanced by the white dress she wore, profusely embroidered with pearls and silver. Her exquisite shape attracted me perhaps even more than did the classically beautiful head, with the noble regular features and the auburn hair, upon which sparkled a royal diadem. Her charming smile bewitched me as much as did the few friendly words she addressed to me in her melodious
